The Caroline Marshall Draughon Center for the Arts & Humanities in Auburn University's College of Liberal Arts creates opportunities for people to explore our individual and collective experiences, values, and identities through the creativity of the arts and the wisdom of the humanities.

The Draughon Center is located in the historic Scott-Yarbrough House, known as Pebble Hill, an 1847 Greek Revival style cottage that illustrates the important lives of Creek Indians, enslaved persons, and founders and builders of the town of Auburn.

Come visit! The house is open for self-guided tours and guided tours by appointment during business hours. To make a reservation, email cmdcah@auburn.edu or call 334-844-4946.
